She is the author of “Live Free” –Re-create and Liberate Your Life. From her life experiences she wrote this book to show others that one can re-create their own life and transform in every painful moment. She created Kinpathics® Method of Life Solutions and is founder of Tantra Wisdom™. She supported her experiences with a full education in psychology, sex and somatic therapies.

Known for her forward thinking and a master of liberating feelings; an expert in body, mind and sexual connection. Gifted with intuitive clarity and a unique healing presence obtained from her own rich life experiences. She is sought out for her talents in relationship health, erotic intelligence, medicine, yoga, sexology, Tantra Wisdom™, communication, mediation, somatic's, family health and team organization.

At the age of nine she experienced one of her first awakenings whereby she was hospitalized for six months with rheumatic fever. Being alone and away from home, confined to a bed without privileges, she learned to open her heart to her own feelings, cultivate wisdom and develop a self relationship. As the only white child amongst African American children she learned that love goes beyond race.

She was a consultant for MTV X-Affect , Blind Date, Playboy, and Fox Brazil and has been featured in TV Guide and Shape magazine. She was instrumental in developing therapy groups for women in Woar and created RAP groups for drug and addictions populations. A two time award winning medical journalist for stories on “infertility” and “leukemia”. She produced her own cable television shows in Phila and Los Angeles titled: Anita's Point of View, Dr. Dr. Give me the News, The Breathless Series, Makin Da Moves ( a dating show). Writes a regular column called “Love Buzz” for century city news.

She was inspired early on in her career by Marianne Williamson, Rock Star STING and Sondra Ray whom she had the opportunity to interview. She works in the areas of somatic therapy, sex coaching and psychotherapy for the last 25 years and is also a master Yoga teacher. Splits her time between Philadelphia where she was born and Los Angeles.
